Walford Mill Crafts - 30 years of exceptional craft

Originally the home of the Dorset Guild of Craftsmen, Walford Mill has been a centre of excellence for contemporary craft since 1986. Over the last 30 years The Mill has provided education for both children and adults in a wide range of craft skills, as well as supporting more than 100 makers from across the country through the shop and gallery. The light and spacious Philip Goulden Gallery hosts a number of exciting and inspirational exhibitions each year and provides a focus for a diverse programme of events and activities.

Walford Mill Education is a charitable trust which exists to promote the benefits of craft through education, aiming to do so through outreach projects running alongside a comprehensive programme of workshops and classes. By becoming a Friend of Walford Mill you will help to fund these projects as well as ensuring that we can continue our work in The Mill itself.

We are committed to keeping Friends up to date with what is going on at The Mill; providing opportunities to join us for special events; offering priority booking and exclusive discounts. We want to ensure that every visit you make to Walford Mill is both enjoyable and memorable, and we value any comments and ideas you may have to help us improve the service we offer to you and to all our visitors.
